

Respect for Human Life Essay

Poem by Megan Williams

I am your baby.

Just hear me out.

I know everyone is saying to kill me,

But just listen to me please.

I am a human being and I deserve to have a life.

I am also a person that God made,

And I have a specific set of talents.

I could be a doctor or an

Amazing cop who could put many people in jail.

I am also a product of a relationship you had.

I know I'm a mistake that just happened by accident,

But I know deep down that you want me.

So please don't let people force you

Into doing something you might regret.

God never made a mistake and

I don't think I will be his first one.

So please just think about everything I have said,

And don't make the biggest mistake of your life.
